Response to Amendment

1. This Office Action is responsive to Amendment/REMARKS received on 5/30/2008.

Terminal Disclaimer submitted on 5/30/2008 are made of record and rejection of claims 37-46 under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness type Double Patenting is removed.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed 5/30/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argued that cited reference, Quick, fails to teach or suggest assigned at least one wireless channel for receiving database on an urgency factor, page 6).

Examiner, respectfully, disagrees with the Applicant's analysis of the rejection. The system disclosed by Quick is communicating digital data between digital transceivers and digital base stations via random access channel and/or dedicated channel based on bandwidth demand (urgency factor). If the demand exceeds a first threshold, a dedicated channel is assigned to the digital transceiver to receive digital data packets on dedicated channel. For further clarification Examiner included the same in the body of the rejection.

Art Unit: 2416

3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

4 Claims 37-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Quick Jr. (US 5,673,259) in view of obviousness.

Claims 37-44, Quick Jr.('Quick') discloses a CDMA cellular telephone system, used in CDMA applications, having forward link and reverse link, mobile stations 102 (fig. 1) (transceivers) and base stations 108. Mobile station (transceiver) transmits call request on "Access channels" and is configured to receive data traffic from base stations on a "Dedicated traffic channel" to carry the VOICE information (see col. 3, lines 63 through col. 4, lines 22-38). Quick further discloses a searcher reservation scheme which uses a priority assignment algorithm based on type (user specific long code used to encode data and voice transmission) and amount of traffic in the queues (buffer), to be transmitted to the CDMA user device, wherein device receiving data traffic on at least one "Dedicated channel" (see Abstract, col. 9, lines 50 through col. 10, lines 1-4).

The system disclosed by Quick is a switching system, comprising a random access channel and dedicated channel for a digital transceiver to receive a data from digital base station. It switches between random access channel and dedicated channel based on bandwidth demand (Urgency Factor), as disclosed under the heading 'SUMMARY'.

Art Unit: 2416

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of invention, that a transceiver is assigned 'dedicated channel' to receive data based on amount of traffic; bandwidth demand; queue occupancy, etc. (known and old to an artisan as 'urgency factors').

Claims 45-46, Quick discloses bandwidth demand associated with thresholds as traffic type attribute. Quick does not specifically disclose if the data buffer is hardware controlled by fast cache memory (claim 41). However, Quick discloses a processor 302 (fig. 3), and while in switching signals, is capable of storing data packets correspond to threshold levels and based on bandwidth demand, these data packets are transmitted controlled by searcher scheme (software) (see col. 11, lines 5-53). It is known and old that a computer, (digital processor 302 in this case), comprises fast cache memory that is capable of storing instructions, when executed, used to control transmission from buffers.

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of invention, to be able to modify processor 302, utilizing fast cache memory to control data buffer in order to facilitate an efficient data packet transmission to a cell site within a CDMA system.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. In the Amendment/Request for Reconsideration, by the Applicant, claims were not amended. Examiner maintained the same rejection with further clarification. Therefore, Examiner made it a Final Rejection.

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
